REV. DR. CHENEY'S CASE.

The opening trial of Rev. Charles E. Cheney, on the charge of violating the discipline of the Protestant Episcopal Church, for the absence of great and continued neglect of "all" or any one of the duties of his office, as set forth in the Book of Common Prayer, upon those who are ordained to the ministry of the Church, is a matter of public interest, not only on account of the eminence of the clergyman himself, but because the case involves the question of the authority of the Episcopal Church in the matter of the doctrine of baptism. The fact is the ruling doctrine of the Church of England, from which the Episcopal Church in this country derives its authority, and the Church of Rome, is that baptism is "effectual" in securing and perpetuating the immunities of the baptized, and that the efficacy of baptism is not dependent upon the character of the administrator. Dr. Cheney, on the contrary, holds that baptism is only a form, and that the validity of the apostolic succession is conferred by the exercise of a voluntary act of the candidate himself. The question, as it stands, is one of veracity between Dr. Cheney and the Rev. Dr. Thomas, on the ground that "it is offered" in proving and perpetuating the immunities of the baptized, to offer unto it the privileges of the Church, and the virtual presentation of the old system of sacramental efficacy, which has been performed by the consecration at the pleasure of the candidate himself. What "offer" was made, and what "refusal" remains to be seen. At present, the Cohen solution, like many dramatic wars, is a myth.

COOLIE LABOR.

We have already called attention to the fatal liability with which the Southern States are threatened by the introduction of the cheap labor, whether white or black. Within sixty days after the Commercial Convention at Memphis, the delegates from all the Southern States, unanimously voted an invitation to the white mechanics and laborers of the North to move South, and declared that as such an immigration rested one of the most certain foundations of re-establishing Southern wealth and prosperity, political stability, and peace, the whole people would hail in the latter city, enthusiastically received that the regeneration of the South depended upon the introduction of ten or fifteen hundred thousand coolies from China, and appealed to the Southern people to subscribe their money to pay for them imported laborers. The fact is the ruling classes of the South do not want white labor. A free white laborer, who works no longer than he is paid for, and who selects no employer as "master," is not wanted of the South. Such a man is not suited to "kick" if he is not paid, or if he is paid, if he refuses to work; to rest to be shot if he resents a blow with a blow; and cannot be sold under any circumstances. Free negroes are hardly in the same condition as white laborers, for the reason that the old population, accustomed to the labor of their laborers, gladly welcomed the introduction of coolies, and the virtual restoration of the old system of unrequited labor with the right of property in the services of the laborer.

Two men attended the Chinese Labor Convention at Memphis. One, named Koopmanschap, a native of Holland, resident in Massachusetts, a dealer in Chinese goods, equip or use any vessel licensed in the United States for the purpose of procuring from China persons known as "coolies," to be transported to any foreign country or port, if detained on board of, or sold, or transferred, for any term of years, or for any time whatever, as servants, or apprentices, or to be held to service or labor. Any vessel so employed, or in the "coolie trade" between the United States and shall be forfeited to the United States. The second section of the same act provides that every person who shall build, fit out, equip or prepare, or who shall cause to be built, fitted out, equipped or prepared, or who shall aid or abet in building, fitting out, equipping or preparing any vessel, knowing that the same is intended to be employed in the "coolie trade," shall forfeit the sum of $2,000, and be imprisoned not exceeding one year. Section three provides that no person in the employ of any citizen of the United States who shall receive or transport any such person for such purposed. The fourth section provides that the act shall not be construed to apply to any foreign vessel entering the United States, and that even her National position, and the fact of her having taken on board her cargo of the Episcopal canons is that of the Church of England, and the Church of Rome that the assent of baptism is efficient and irresistible efficacy to regenerate, and that never the baptized person, irrespective of his belief or unbelief in Christ. Upon just this issue between Methodists by faith, as to internal change, and justification by baptism, or the operation of the external ordinance, hinge the whole issue between Protestantism and Romanism. Upon "Justification by Faith" Luther rended the troop of battle. Upon this Cranmer and, in part, Dr. Hobart, Bishop Doane, and others. Dr. Cheney takes up issue. The whole Protestant world has since the regard it is indispensable to the spirituality of any Church. Not only the Episcopal Church, probably since the time of the clergy and laity of the Anglican Church throughout Great Britain and of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America, but the Methodists, as also the Baptists and other forms of Protestantism, hold to the like point. Then, cordite allies do not theoretically strengthen Mr. Cheney with the Episcopal Church any more than the Bishop by the Methodist Church, and the Church of England, and the Church of Rome, with Bishop Wadsworth on the pilot, installation him, but they serve to show that Mr. Cheney stands for essential Protestantism and the Bishop for essential Romanism, at least on the point.

It is true that the Bishop can point to certain language in the prayer-book, and in the form of baptism, which, taken by itself, and in connection with the Articles of Religion, would seem to favor the Romish doctrine of baptism. But these forms are not the only forms of the Episcopal Church, nor are they the only ones which are used in the Church of England. The Bishop of Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, California, Oregon, and Nevada, are all Episcopalians, and they are practically at this point. The Episcopal Church has always held these two principles in solution, or of opposition, and, according to the circumstances of the time, has given the preponderance to the one or the other. Whether, now, it will bring together these two elements, will bring together these two elements, will bring together these two elements,

BISHOP VS. RECTOR.

Proceedings Before the Episcopal Ecclesiastical Court.

Trial of Rev. E. E. Cleary for Alleged Violations of Canonical Law.

The Charges and Specifications Under Which He Is Presented for Trial.

The Court Refuses to Allow an Examination of the Answers.

Protest of the Accused Against the Appointment of the Commission.

Arguments of Hons. E. W. Fuller, Hon. I. N. Otis, and Mr. Thompson.

JUDICIAL SESSION.

The Ecclesiastical Court convened by the Right Reverend the Bishop of this Diocesan Council of Chicago, pursuant to a notice issued by the Bishop, for the trial of the Rev. E. E. Cleary, Rector of St. Paul's Church, on certain charges and specifications preferred against him by the Rev. Dr. Thompson, of St. Ignatius, and the Rev. Theo. Richmond, of St. Andrew's, on February 7, 1865, met this morning at 10 o'clock, in the Sunday-school room of St. Paul's Church, corner of Ohio and Dearborn streets.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Court will please be in order. The Court is now ready to proceed with the trial of the Rev. E. E. Cleary. Mr. Fuller, are you ready?

MR. FULLER. Mr. President: I do not understand that any preliminary matters are to be brought before the Court at this time, and I am ready to proceed with the trial.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. I presume that is the understanding of the Court. Mr. Thompson, are you ready?

MR. THOMPSON. Mr. President, the prosecution are ready to proceed with the trial.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Court will please be in order. The Secretary will read the charges and specifications.

The Rev. E. A. Renouard, Secretary of the Court, read the charges and specifications, as follows:

[Here follow the charges and specifications, which have already been published in full in the TRIBUNE.]

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Is the defendant present?

MR. FULLER. Mr. President: I do not understand that any preliminary matters are to be brought before the Court at this time, and I am ready to proceed with the trial.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. I presume that is the understanding of the Court. Mr. Thompson, are you ready?

MR. THOMPSON. Mr. President, the prosecution are ready to proceed with the trial.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Court will please be in order. The Secretary will read the charges and specifications.

The Rev. E. A. Renouard, Secretary of the Court, read the charges and specifications, as follows:

[Here follow the charges and specifications, which have already been published in full in the TRIBUNE.]

A written notice of the time and place appointed for the trial of the presentee, in such form as the Court shall direct, shall be served upon the presentee by the Secretary of the Court, at least twenty days before the time appointed for the trial, either personally or by leaving the same at the usual place of abode of the presentee, or by sending the same by mail, addressed to the presentee at his usual place of abode, and the service shall be proved by the oath of the person making the same, or by the certificate of the Secretary of the Court.

Now what I have to say in the first place is, that the Court is without jurisdiction of the case. The Court is a creature of the Canons, and it has not authority to do anything but what is given to it by the Canons. Now, I find no provision in the Canons for the appointment of a Court of Presentment. I find a provision for the appointment of a Court of Trial, but I find no provision for the appointment of a Court of Presentment. I find a provision for the appointment of a Court of Trial, but I find no provision for the appointment of a Court of Presentment. I find a provision for the appointment of a Court of Trial, but I find no provision for the appointment of a Court of Presentment.

I find in the opinion of Judge Wilmer, upon the trial of the presentee, Mr. Hall, that the presentee had the right to appeal from the decision of the Court of Presentment to the Court of Trial, and that the Court of Trial had the right to hear the case de novo. Now, I find no provision in the Canons for any appeal from the decision of the Court of Presentment to the Court of Trial, and that the Court of Trial had the right to hear the case de novo. Now, I find no provision in the Canons for any appeal from the decision of the Court of Presentment to the Court of Trial, and that the Court of Trial had the right to hear the case de novo
